Eva Kerek moves in her very own world of images. Here we encounter everyday objects, but not as we usually see them, they are twisted and turned. We often look into Eva Kerek's room from above, but see the people and the furniture that populate her images from the side. The perspective is displaced and distorted, and suddenly the simple, everyday room becomes something very different.

After getting her education at the University College of Arts, Crafts and Design with a degree in fine arts, Eva Kerek worked as a painter, but also focused especially on graphics. She has worked with virtually all graphic techniques and has received several awards in the genre. In 2008 she was awarded a scholarship by the building contractor Sven-Harry art and housing foundation.
